opifan64@gmail.com

I attended OCAD University in Toronto, Canada, where I took part in their interdisciplinary program, studying such diverse creative fields as illustration, design, sculpture, creative writing, photography and film. I currently have 19 designs printed at Threadless.com and my work is available on a variety of different websites which I have listed below.

My first children's book, The Night Gardener, which I wrote and illustrated my brother, Terry Fan, will be published by Simon & Schuster on February 23, 2016 through our agent Kirsten Hall, at the Catbird Agency. We also collaborated on the interior art for Henry Clark's book, The Book That Proves That Time Travel Happens (Little Brown, Spring 2015) and the cover design for Ali Benjamin's book, The Thing About Jellyfish (Little Brown, Fall 2015) as well as Dashka Slater's upcoming picture book, The Antlered Ship (Simon & Schuster, Fall 2017). Our second children's book, Ocean Meets Sky, will be published by Simon & Schuster Summer 2017.

Society6

I have a large collection of art posted and it's available on a wide range of quality products such as archival prints (framed or unframed), canvas prints, laptop/iPhone skins, iPhone cases, Samsung Galaxy cases, stationary cards, tote bags, throw pillows (indoor and outdoor), wall clocks, t-shirts and hoodies.

I'm constantly adding new designs, be sure to check it often! Simply click on the blue title above to visit the shop.

Threadless Made Store

I was honored to be chosen as one of Threadless' "Made" artists which features a selection of my t-shirt designs available for purchase in my own shop. Threadless is where I made my start as an artist so it was especially gratifying to be selected as one of their featured artists.
