Charleston, SC

Brianna Stello began her photographic journey in Cape Cod as a muse to her mother, photographer Jennifer Eldredge Stello.

During her first trip abroad to Costa Rica she carried her mother's college 35mm cannon AE-1. It was then that her fascination to have the ability to still these moments in time began.

She spent a great deal of 1997 to 2001 immersed in the language and culture of Central and South America. Her experiences abroad honed her already empathetic personality and expanded her artistic horizons.

Brianna opened Stello Photography Studio/Gallery on King Street working for clients both nationally and internationally. She has Exhibited and sold her work in over a dozen galleries.

Today, Brianna continues to travel for journalistic projects and makes time to create her Photography art as well. Stello shoots editorials, advertisements, portraits, weddings and more. Brianna finds the diversity in her work keeps her sharp, inspired and challenged. Her clients find connection and comfort with her that lasts over time, like the quality of her images.
