StudioKxx works in manifold areas of design, branding, visual identity, web-design and art direction for a diverse group of clients in an extensive array of occupations. Always motivated by the pursuit of the new, StudioKxx strives to deliver straightforward and memorable communications, irrespective of scale and budget. The studio's approach is built on the idea that there is never one ultimate way of dealing with a given challenge.

Through experiments with various processes, production methods and design styles, Krzysztof seeks to discover, explore and represent everything that is visual. This often leads him to some self-initiated pieces and collaborations with kindred spirits in the field. Krzysztof holds a Master's Degree in Metal Techniques and Drawing from the Academy of Fine Arts in Poznan / Poland, the city where he currently lives and works.
